Add on domains

Adding New Domain Name

You can host a website on this server, set up web forwarding to another website, or just set up a domain DNS zone if you want to have only e-mail addresses under the domain.

Domain name *

test.com

Domain name is the website's Internet address. It is a combination of words separated with dots, for example, mycompany.com. Domain names are registered by domain name registrars and hosting providers.

DNS Settings

DNS server associates the domain name with a website, mail server, or other services offered with this subscription. If you select the recommended option, we will automatically set up the DNS records for you and the services will become available under the domain name shortly after you perform minor amendments at your domain name registrar's site.
